Board Of Tax Adjustment To Meet Last Of September To Review All Tax Budgets

Much interest is being manifested by taxpayers in the session of the ounty council which meets next Tuesday to consider the county tax budget or next year and to make special deficiency appropriations totalling $3,323 for this year.

The council will have before it a ounty budget calling for a tax rate next year of 87 cents compared to the 34 cent levy in effect this year. Alhough the council members may nake some reduction in the levy, ounty officials state that they pared the expenditures for next year to limit in making the budget and any further reduction will result in nability of the county to meet its

In addition to regular expenses next year the county must raise sufficient funds to retire the principal tue on county unit road bonds which was defaulted this year. Other added pulsory expenditures next year ude increased poor relief costs, spitalization of children, registraon of voters, old age pensions, elecns, and tubercular testing of Members of the council are John Charles McFerran, George Ensign, eorge Akers, and Milton Edwards.

At the same time next week advisry boards in all the townships will eet with trustees to pass on township budgets, many of which call for creased levies next year. However, with a higher rate, less is being raised for the year than was spent this year. The Greencastle city council and the Greencastle school board do not meet intil later to consider their budgets r 1934. In Greencastle city a tax rate of 90 cents will be sought-

Although decreased valuations in nships have caused some increase tax levies, most of the advance in rates will be due to the fact that all townships defaulted the principal due 1933 on township roadbonds. This defaulted principal must be paid in

All the tax budgets will be reviewed the county board of tax adjustnt beginning the third Monday in ember. This board is composed of an Sinclair, a member of the counincil, and six members appointy Judge Wilbur S. Donner. They Harry Wells, of the board of stle; and Charles Hanna, Franklin waship, William Moser, Jefferson wnship, and Benton Curtis, Green-

Under the state law it is the duty this board to limit the total of an ax levies to $1.50 in towns and $1.00 townships of the county. It is probble, however, that emergencies will be declared in every taxing unit uner which total levies greater than he above figures can be fixed.

CLARK MEMORIAL AT VINCEN-NES ERECTED BY LOCAL CONTRACTOR

MRS. PORTER ON COMMISSION

Dedication Exercises For Historical Structure Will Be Held Sunday. Prominent Men To Speak.

Greencastle comes in for a just share of the honors at the dedication of the George Rogers Clark Memorial at Vincennes tomorrow Sunday, September 3, with Mrs. L. L. Porter, vice president of the George Rogers Clark-Indiana Commission, and the W. R. Heath Construction Company builders of the Memorial proper-

Mrs. Porter succeeded her mother the late Mrs. Anne S. Carlisle of South Bend, as a member of the commission. She has been a faithful and devoted member, and upon its reorganization just recently she was named vice chairman of the commission.

The George Rogers Clark Memorial Commission was formed by the Indiana Historical Society. Its primary purpose was to acquire and dedicate to the public as a memorial site, all the land upon which the old post, Fort Sackville, was situated, and erect thereon a suitable monument to George Rogers Clark commemorating the victory of his small band of sold iers in the capture of Fort Sackville and acquiring for the state of Virginia the Great North West Territory which later became a part of our United States.

Through the effort of the Indiana commission was authorized; later the government took over the building of propriations to supplement the Indiana fund.

The contract for the construction of the memorial was awarded to Walter R. Heath of this city through competitive bidding, and work was started in October, 1931. This contract was comfarmer may permit his retired acres pleted and turned over to the Comto lie unplanted, where it can be done mission and was accepted the latter Independence was made a condition of the negotiations; whether the United States was to be limited to the Atlantic seaboard or was to include the eastern part of the Misssissippi valley and perhaps Canada as well, and whot were to be the commercial relations of the United States with the remainder of the British Empire were questions decided during the negotiations.

The cession by Great Britain of the land between the Mississippi and the Allegheny Mountains was a triumph of ciplomacy uncorpassed in our history. Time has proved that its importance overshadowed the failure of the American representatives to secure equal commercial privileges throughout the British empire. At the time, however, this latter was such a disappointment to bo h the American representatives and the United States generally, that the treaty was regard ed with disfavor on this side of the Atlantic-

SUIT ATTACKS LEGALITY OF BARBER BOARD APPOINTMENT

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 2 .- Suit attacking legality of the appointment of Frank E. McKamey of Indianapolis as a member of the state board of barber examiners and asking an Raccoon Call Fall Bros. 17-209 injunction to prevent McKamey from serving as secretary of the board was filed in the Marion circuit court Thursday.

The complaint was filed by Lester C. Nagley of Indianapolis as a taxpayer and citizen. Defendants named are Arthur Wilson of Shelbyville and GOBIN MEMORIAL METHODIST W. O. Timmons of Greencastle, the two other members of the board; Mc-Kamey; Floyd Williamson, state auditor, and William Storen, state treas-

The appointment of McKamey by Governor McNutt is attacked in the suit as being illegal because Mc-Kamey is allegel not to be qualified under provisions of the 1933 law creating the board. The complaint alleges that he has not followed the occupation of barber for a period of five years as provided in the law.

The complaint asks that an injucttion be granted by the court restraining the state auditor and treasurer from paying or receiving any fees, and from signing or issuing any licenses as provided by law until Mc-FOR RENT: Modern furnished Lamey is removed from the board by

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 3.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth. My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distil as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass: Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deut. 32: 1-4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Christike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea,—perfect God and perfect man,—as the basis of thought and demonstration. If man was once perfect but has now lost his perfection, then mortals have never beheld in man the reflex image of God. The lost image is no image. The true likeness cannot be lost in divine reflection. Understanding this, Jesus said: 'Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect'" (p. 259).

HE LOVE TRAP" by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

Pretty Mary Kennedy breaks her engagement to elderly Buck Landers, wealthy sports promoter, when she falls in love with his young ward, Steve Moore. Landers tries to force Mary to marry him by kidnapping Steve and threatening him, unless she does. He gives Mary twenty-four hours to decide.

second, because he was a traitor at heart. But he typified the weakness of Landers. In his shady work, and to depend upon men like Bat. Always, the lowliest henchmen had the power and, frequently, the motive to double-cross him.

He was slim and swarthy with a beak of nose. His jet hair was oiled and brushed so that it glistened. He wore a blue shirt of heavy silk. "Think you've heard of Mr. Landers, and the power and, frequently, the motive to double-cross him."

The man at the door spoke over engagement to elderly Buck Lan-ders, wealthy sports promoter, Mary twenty-four hours to decide.

She enlists the aid of Carlotta, Lan.

"I got a chance to ride alcohol ders' former sweetheart, who suggests that a flirtation with Bat, napping. Landers orders her out. Later, Mary discovers she has Carlotta's bag by mistake. It contains an automatic. Mary encourages Bat. Flattered by her attentions. Bat takes Mary to lunch. She hopes the liquor will make him talk.

CHAPTER XXIX

ET'S go and see Steve," she said, tensely persuasive.
"You wanna see Steve?" he questioned thickly, screwing up his eyebrows.

"Sure-unless you're afraid to take me to him.'

"I ain't afraid of nothing. Nobody ain't gonna office-boy me around and make me like it."

"Brain Trust" to Editor's Desk

In resigning his post as Assistant Secretary of State to accept the editorship of a new political publication to be started by Vincent Astor, close friend of President Roosevelt, Professor Raymond Moley, head of the so-called "Brain Trust," puts an end to the strained relations that existed in the State Department by reason of his feud with Secretary of State *Cordell Hull. The clash between Moley and Hull dates back to the World Economic Conference, when the professor, as President Roosevelt's laison officer, practically took command of the American delegation out of the hands of the Secretary of State. The new publication will serve as s hands of the Secretary of State. The new publication will serve as s "mouthpiece" for the "New Deal" with Moley in the editor's chair inter-preting the Roosevelt policies.

Reporting on a recent acquisition of skeletons of these people, the Smithsonion Institution says:

"Nearly all skeletons showed evidence of fractured legs or arms which cave in which the skeletons were found is in the side of an almost perpendicular cliff, approximately 150 feet above the flood plain of the river, and fractures indicate that the ancient people not infrequently tumbled ever the edge."

The cave was discovered by Dr Frank M. Setzler in the canyon of the Pecos river. One of the specimens he found was an almost perfectly preserved mummy.

"The body was buried in an upright position in a deep deposit of wood ashes," the report said. "It was wrapped in a rabbit skin robe with a basket over the head. When the mummy was dug up the face had an almost lifelike expression, with the hands crossed in a peculiar fashion under the head."

Six other similarly preserved bodies vere found, one of which was lying in a prone position with the bones articulated.

From the bodies and accompanying relics, Smithsonian scientists hope to learn much about the life and culture of Texas cave dwellers.
